ORDER OF CONTINUED DETENTION PENDING TRIAL

This matter came before the Court on defendants' initial appearance and arraignment on an Indictment on January 24, 2012. Melissa M. Kirby, Assistant United States Attorney, was present representing the government and Attorney Jonathan A. Moffat, Federal Defender Services was present representing the defendant. The defendant was present. The defendant previously had a detention hearing in the underlying criminal complaint, Case No. 3:11-mj-2112 (Guyton) [Doc. 9] and the court found, the evidence and other information provided at the hearing established by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant is a serious risk to not appear at trial, and by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant presents a risk of harm to the community. Accordingly, no condition or combination of conditions will reasonably assure the defendant's presence for future court appearances, or the safety of the community, if the defendant were to be released on bond. Attorney Jonathan Moffatt stated that he would have to show a change in circumstances under the statute before he would be requesting a detention hearing at this time.

Therefore, absent a request or finding, the court will continue the defendant's detention pending trial at this time.

Accordingly, The defendant is committed to the custody of the Attorney General or his designated representative for confinement in a correction facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultations with defense counsel. On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the government, the person in charge of the corrections facility shall deliver the defendant to the United States Marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with a court proceeding.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
